

BERACHAH STUDENT MINISTRIES:

• REFORM - Summer Book Study – begins June 9

- “Worldliness: Resisting the Seduction of a Fallen World” – edited by CJ Mahaney
  - Be sure to stop by the SM blog for our series on the book in focus—materials for both parent and student can be found
- Student Ministries’ REFORM will be dividing up into 5 groups—JH and HS (gender specific)
- Small group leaders at present:
  - Girls: Debbie Lute, Avery Work, Natalie Grubbs, Lauren Miller
  - Guys: Jeff Miller, Patrick Work, and Wade Grubbs
    - Girls will meet at the Grubbs home on all NON-Carry-in dinner Wednesdays
    - Guys will meet at the church
- Below are just a few small group objectives that come to mind -- Small groups provide:
  - Opportunity for extended prayer
  - Opportunity for deeper fellowship
  - Opportunity for deep and meaningful relationships/discipleship
    - Open and honest discussion, intimate shepherding and sharpening
  - Opportunity for an interactive study over a given subject or aspect of the Christian life
- From a student perspective:
  - One gets to know his/her small group leader better
  - One gets to know the rest of their peers in Student Ministries
  - One is enriched by challenging books that convict us with the amazing Word of God and encourages us in Christ Jesus
  - One is able to memorize Scripture with other believers
  - One is held accountable with meaningful relationships (i.e., accountability partners)
- Students I would encourage you at this point to do a couple of things—doing so would bring me great joy:
  - Continue in your commitment to grow in Christ—if this commitment is lacking please take this time to evaluate your own heart for God’s glory in your life. HE alone is to be praised in all you do!
    - This commitment translates into
      - Faithful attendance to our weekly gatherings,
      - Faithful reading of your small group book,
      - Faithful memorization of Scripture,
      - Faithful accountability with your accountability partners,
      - Faithful prayer for your group, and so forth.
- Parents please be in prayer for these small groups—times like these typically allow for huge investments and large strides to be taken in the walks of each of our students.
